Last Updated: Feb. 19, 10:55 a.m.

Here are the latest Covid-19 vaccination numbers as of Friday, February 19.

In Flagler County, 18,041 people have received at least one of the two required shots, and 5,815 have received both shots.

So far, 15.7 percent of the county's population has been inoculated with at least one shot, which in itself provides significant protection from severe complications from Covid-19. Just over 15,000 of Flagler County's 36,500 people who are 65 and over have been vaccinated with at least one shot, representing 41.2 percent of the local population of 65 and over. That's a significantly higher proportion than in the state as a whole, where 17.6 percent of those 65 and over have been inoculated at least once.

In Florida, 2.55 million people have received at least one shot, or 11.9 percent of the population, and 1.23 million have received both shots, or 5 percent. A total of 2.2 million people have been administered million have received both shots, or 5.7 percent. A total of 3.78 million doses have been administered statewide, including 558,381 in the past seven days, an average of 79,769 shots per day statewide, according to the Florida Department of Health. Florida ranks 27th in the rate of inoculation among American states and the District of Columbia.

In Flagler in the last seven days, 4,541 first or second doses have been administered at all locations—those run by the Flagler Health Department, Publix, AdventHealth Palm Coast and pharmacies inoculating residents of assisted living facilities and nursing homes—for an average of 648 shots per day. In the past seven days, 2,034 people in Flagler County have completed their two-dose series.

In the United States, 12 percent of the population has received at least one shot, 4.9 percent has received both. That places the United States in fourth place worldwide in the rate of vaccination, behind Israel, which has vaccinated 80 percent of its population with at least one shot (not including Palestinians under Israeli occupation), the United Arab Emirates (54 percent), and Great Britain (25 percent), according to Oxford University's Our World in Data (see below).

The nation was inoculating just under 200,000 people per day in late December. The seven-day average was up to 900,000 a day by Jan. 20. It is now 1.6 million per day, exceeding the goal of 1.5 million per day President Biden set in order to have 100 million people inoculated in his first 100 days. At the current pace, half the population of the United States will be vaccinated with at least one dose by July 8, 70 percent by Sept. 19, and 90 percent by Dec. 2, according to projections based on figures by the Centers for Disease Control.

MAYOR'S CHALLENGE

If you're here and you've read this far down our notoriously boundless articles, you're one of our 25,000-some daily visitors, and you've read not 5 or 50 but probably 500 FlaglerLive articles this year--at no cost to you. But locally focused, independent and bold reporting isn't cheap, and it's becoming rare: two-thirds of counties don't have a daily paper anymore, let alone a 24/7 news source. We depend on your help to fund the essential investigative and analytical journalism you've relied on for 11 years, and to keep FlaglerLive the only fully free-access, news source in Flagler County. If each of you contributed as little as $5 for the whole year--barely over a penny a day--we wouldn't need to solicit advertising. But only a fraction of you contribute. Make a difference this holiday season. Have a stake in fostering serious journalism in your community. Contribute today or become a monthly donor. Thanks Flagler Live, Flagler Health Department (and all involved in acquiring more vaccines), David Ayers and the seniors who expressed their concerns and their experiences in the past couple of weeks. Many seniors as well as I received our first dose at the Fairgrounds which was very well organized, people friendly with not much wait time. I am sure that the many other seniors who are are patiently waiting for their first vaccine will be called very soon and can finally feel some relief.

(Edit)

It should be madatory that all 1st responders get vaccinated. If they dont like it they should be let go. You have a duty tobyour community to get vaccinated. 1st responder anti vaccers should be terminated.

(Edit)

It's shame how this city and county treats the elderly. I have friends that have go to other cities and counties to get the vaccine. Case in point a 90 year old friend and his wife have to drive to Jacksonville to get a shot. I'll bet you the best drink in the house that ALL our politicians have received the shot. From the governor on down ,they suck.

(Edit)

I have an artificial heart valve and COPD. It would be nice if I could at least get scheduled for my first vaccine. I've tried Publix online appointments to no avail. And I'm on a list for Florida, Flagler County

The Flagler County numbers are a joke! MANY people have had to cross county lines in order to get their vaccination. What is going on here? Why is Flagler County NOT getting enough vaccine? I had to go to St John's Co. to get mine, as did my roommate. The distribution numbers just are not adding up. Why is the state not giving Flagler Co. enough vaccine? Just seems a little fishy to me....

Flagler is a joke! Spent many hours on the PC trying to sign up. Was told by a neighbor, to access the StJohns county COVID web site. Opened up their page and there were many appointment times available. About 6 tonight, we both made appointments in StAugustine for Monday of next week. No waiting on line like here. Why the hell don't Flagler County do the same? Probably to lazy. Sad.

I don't believe over 40% of those over 65 in Flagler County have received their Covid vaccine . I am 83 and have not even gotten a promise date or even a priority listing from Flaler Heath Dept.
