

Press Release

Running for public office requires communication to the citizens of one's ideas, background and capability to administer the position. In today's environment, we communicate not only with newspapers and radio but social media. Facebook Instagram, X and You Tube are the sources used by the City of Palm Coast to announce events, meetings and City road closures. Over the past 2 weeks there have been numerous invitations to meet the Mayor 1: on Saturday mornings at the City Hall dubbed "Share with the Mayor" 2: meet at the Southern Rec Center for A TOWN HALL with the Mayor and then 3: the City providing a new weekly newsletter upon subscribing. This is all being promoted within 8 weeks of a primary for the position of Mayor of Palm Coast.

This appears as public funds and facilities being used to promote the re-election of the Mayor. I have asked this morning at the City Council Workshop that this use of tax payer staff and tax payer facilities for the promotion of the candidate stop.

I appreciated Councilman Danko requesting all additional forums be on hold except for the City Council meetings until after the elections.
