Brad, I'm sorry for the things I said to you on that day, I don't know what I was thinking. You're my brother and I would never really hurt you, I know we argue, disagree, and don't get along sometimes, but at the the end of the day you're my brother and I love you more than words can describe. And I miss you, I miss having my built in best friend by my side and it's been hurting me not having you around. I know I haven't been the best big brother, but I try. At the end of the day I would put my life in the line for you because you're my family, my little brother and it's my job to protect you, not to bring you harm. We've been through so much together, and I'm sorry for putting you through this. I know it hurts you to see where your big brother put himself in life and I wanna do better for myself and you and mom and dad, because I know this is killing them too. I'm tired of being in jail wasting my life, I'm about to have a kid and I want them to meet there uncle and there grandparents and I don't wanna not be here and miss out on my child's life. I know I've made mistakes in the past but I was young and going through things in my own way. We all make mistakes, some of us make more than others. Sometimes it just takes time to finally realize. I also realize my behavior has been affected by the mental issues I have had. The only way I am going to succeed is by addressing these issues. I am ready to accept help and become the father, brother and son that I know I can be. I love you all very much, and I don't want this one stupid thing to ruin my life, or ruin our relationship. I miss you and I hope I get to see you soon. I love you so much and I hope you know that. I promise to do better for my kid, my family and myself and to never turn back to the path that I was on. Love chad
