Hello Ms. Ackerman,

Thanks again for spending time to discuss your media team decision regarding my challenge to the Bible. As I recall, during the conversation, there was mention of some portions of Biblical material approved and utilized by schools. The Book of Psalms and the Book of Esther apparently are used in some approved fashion.

I took another look at some of the Psalms content. Are any of the following worrisome "imprecatory" Psalms invoking curses, calamities, violence and cruelty part of any instructional material, reading lists, etc.? Is there a methodology for segregating content that may not be appropriate?

Thank you,
Bob Gordon
