

Media Release

Date: Sept. 14, 2016

Prepared By: Laura Williams

Phone and Email: 386-586-4802 lwilliams@flaglersheriff.com

Release #: 2016-098

Sheriff James L. Manfre, left, administers the oath of office today to new detention deputies, Jarred Tazewell, 31, and Trever Manning, 25, right.

Sheriff Manfre Welcomes 2 Detention Deputies

Two detention deputies joined the Flagler County Sheriff's Office today with their swearing-in conducted by Sheriff James L. Manfre. The new deputies are:

- Trever Manning, 25, who comes from the Putnam County Sheriff's Office.
- Jarred Lee Tazewell, 31, who comes from the Volusia County Branch Jail.

Manning grew up in Palm Coast. He attended Florida State College in Jacksonville.

Tazewell (pronounced Tahs-well), grew up in New Jersey. He attended Daytona Beach Community College. Both men live in Palm Coast.

FCSO News Release # 2016-098
September 14, 2016
Page 2

During the ceremony at the Sheriff's Operations Center this afternoon, Sheriff Manfre greeted Manning and Tazewell and their family members joined the celebration. Manfre reminded the men how important their loved ones are to their success as law enforcement officers. "You can't do these jobs without the full support of your family," he said.

Sheriff Manfre, left, is shown with new Detention Deputy Jarred Tazewell, center, his wife, Theresa, and his brother Daniel and sister-in-law Danielle Tazewell. "I'm very proud of him," Theresa Tazewell said.

At right, Trever Manning's father Kevin Manning, a state probation officer, pins his badge on during the swearing-in ceremony.

Sheriff Manfre with new deputies Jarred Tazewell and Trever Manning.

###