CONFIDENTIAL APPLICATION

To whom it may concern:

My love of local government began during my senior year in high school, during which period I ran successfully for council in my hometown, eventually serving two terms. Throughout that period, I also had a chance to intern for PA State Senator David Argall, both in his district and capitol offices. At one point, I was experiencing local government (with my work as council member), county government (working with the Schuylkill County Treasurer's office), and state government (interning with Senator Argall) all at once – more government than anybody should have to experience at any one given moment!

Although considerably younger than the great majority of current municipal managers, many of which will be competing against my resume for this very role, I hold more experience in the field of local government than almost any of them, as a percentage of my years of life. While my resume indicates a propensity to “job-hop”, as I have heard, it shows a deeper quality of myself than is able to be shared on paper. With the number of communities I have led, comes that many varieties of the administration of local government. In terms of Pennsylvania municipal governance, I have seen it all: from the administration of the very small (Red Hill Borough – 2,300 residents) to the third-largest Township of the Second Class in Pennsylvania (Lower Paxton Township – approximately 50,000 residents) to college towns (Millersville Borough and Indiana Borough).

With each of these communities, my commitment to local government has been evident: ensuring that the elected officials are as informed and educated as possible, providing for the most effective and efficient delivery of municipal services, excelling the transparency of government operations, and executing a fair, equitable policy of personnel administration. Beyond the niche qualities needed in each distinct community, these key functions of a municipal manager often cannot be learned; they are inherent to the individual and require years of cultivation and practice.

As Borough Manager of the Borough of Red Hill, although only for a very short period of time, I led a charge to modernize and branch out. Finally, the Borough accepts credit cards as a form of payment, is a member of PLGIT for the first time – employing the Procurement Card system, adding an efficient, accountable purchasing structure - and is using technology more than ever before to create a more efficient internal operation. The Borough, through my direction, changed the long-standing solid waste and recycling collection practices, moving towards a more equitable and financially responsible system. For the first time, the Borough also began to utilize a Capital Improvement Plan, to realize long-term projects and capital purchases.

During my tenure as Manager of the Borough of Indiana, I got the unique chance to guide a municipality that serves as host to a public university, the Indiana University of Pennsylvania (IUP), a chance that many municipal managers don't often get, especially at my age. In this role, I have worked to modernize Borough operations, working to accept credit cards online and in Borough Hall; joining as a member of PLGIT, employing the Procurement Card system; and implementing a mass notification system. For the first time, the Borough, through my initiative, implemented a 5-year Capital Improvement Plan, and passed a complete budget package that will work to be a communicative tool, expressing the story behind the figures.

Indiana Borough provided me invaluable experience, overseeing a workforce of 55 plus full-time employees, 18 part-time employees, a $13.3 million budget (general fund $6.3 million), and balancing a town-gown relationship that often comes with a share of high stress, and little cooperation.

Today, I serve as Manager of the Township of Lower Paxton, arguably the largest municipality in Dauphin County and a suburb of the City of Harrisburg. In this capacity, I oversee an organization of approximately 400 employees with an all funds budget of approximately $60 million. While this position has given me wonderful exposure to leading one of the larger municipal organizations in Pennsylvania, it lacks strong management investment, with no top-level support to the Township Manager in this extremely busy organization. With such an opportunity, it has been my goal to implement many much needed organizational and operational changes in order to bring about the most transparent and efficient organization possible. To date, I am in the process of bringing about a reorganizational plan with a goal of realigning workflow and correcting terrible workplace inefficiencies; addressing multiple convoluted budgeting practices which have threatened the concept of public finance transparency; organizing and properly insuring municipal assets which have for quite some time been unrepresented; and modernizing operations to take advantage of technology.

While my short career is marked with a number of municipal stops along the way, the one constant that remains is my absolute adoration for local government; I love what it represents, and I love what it is able to accomplish when administered correctly. I humbly, but aggressively, will defend my decade-plus career in this field against anybody my age, or with more experience, for that matter. As some may see my short tenures as a liability, I eagerly await a chance to explain how it has taught me so much more than I could have imagined.

I thank you for your time and consideration and look forward to a chance to discuss my qualifications with you.

Sincerely,
Brad Gotshall
