Governor Abbott Releases Statement On Jailing Of Dallas Salon Owner

AUSTIN – Governor Greg Abbott today released the following statement on the jailing of Dallas Salon Owner, Shelley Luther:

"I join the Attorney General in disagreeing with the excessive action by the Dallas Judge, putting Shelley Luther in jail for seven days. As I have made clear through prior pronouncements, jailing Texans for non-compliance with executive orders should always be the last available option. Compliance with executive orders during this pandemic is important to ensure public safety; however, surely there are less restrictive means to achieving that goal than jailing a Texas mother."

AG Paxton Calls for Immediate Release of Salon Owner Unjustly Jailed for Working to Feed Her Family

AUSTIN – Attorney General Kim Paxton today sent a letter to a Dallas County judge, stating that he abused his authority by putting Shelley Luther, owner of a hair salon, in jail for opening her salon to feed her family.

"I find it outrageous and out of touch that during this national pandemic, a judge, in a county that actually released hardened criminals for fear of contracting COVID-19, would jail a mother for operating her hair salon in an attempt to put food on her family's table," said Attorney General Paxton. "The trial judge did not need to lock up Shelley Luther. His order is a shameful abuse of judicial discretion, which seems like another political stunt in Dallas. He should release Ms. Luther immediately!"

Dear Honorable Speaker:

Thank you for your strong leadership during the COVID-19 pandemic and your efforts to help all Americans during this crisis. The White House's proposal to suspend funding to the World Health Organization (WHO) while U.S. officials investigate the organization's handling of the coronavirus.

As a result of the unprecedented efforts of WHO in the fight against the coronavirus, the United States has a moral obligation to support the organization's efforts to combat the disease. The WHO is the only international organization with the authority to coordinate the global response to the disease. The WHO is the only organization that can coordinate the global response to the disease. The WHO is the only organization that can coordinate the global response to the disease.

A recent study shows that the number of COVID-19 cases could have been reduced by a staggering 90 percent if the WHO had been able to coordinate the global response to the disease. The WHO is the only organization that can coordinate the global response to the disease. The WHO is the only organization that can coordinate the global response to the disease.

The WHO is the only organization that can coordinate the global response to the disease. The WHO is the only organization that can coordinate the global response to the disease. The WHO is the only organization that can coordinate the global response to the disease.
